Minimal strategy card game mixing elements of Chess with memory and card placement. Watch your cards, watch your decisions and watch your opponent, if you can. Either read their mind or just...guess?

Players take turns hiding their 8 chess pieces on a board just big enough to fit them all. The last placed piece is the first to attack, which is to reveal an enemy piece in its range. Newly revealed pieces then continue the chain of attack, until one has nothing left to hit and loses the game - yes, this is a game with single loser.

COMPONENTS

32 square cards (8/player)
playing board (optional)
